The Past ...our heritage,

The Future

...our challenge

Plymouth High School . . . yesterday, today, tomorrow. What changes occur in the brief span of one hundred years! In 1860, for instance, girls in hoop-skirts and boys in fitted trousers went to school in a building that would seem drab to us modern students in our knee-length skirts and chinos. And who knows what another century will bring to our school and its students?

Our predecessors were generally more earnest scholars than most of us. One hundred years ago the price of an education was hard work. Students of 1860 had to contend with Declamation and Greek, while to us Latin seems unbearably difficult. The standards of education follow the changing patterns of time.

Yet despite the outward differences in our schools over the period of one hundred years, we are bound to those in the past, as to those in the future, by a common goal, education.

AN ASSOCIATION CHERISHED

Our advisor at his high school graduation

Mr. Holmes teaches English.

We the students, and especially the yearbook staff, here express our gratitude to Mr. Roland Holmes for his help and backing. He has been a friend, as well as a teacher and counsellor, to each of us who has known him.

During the time that Mr. Holmes has served as advisor for the Pilgrim, he has weathered feuds, insufficient funds, and deadlines to help produce a new and better yearbook each year. We are proud of our Pilgrim, but without him, it could never have been written and published.

Therefore, to recognize the tremendous work that this man has done, we offer him our highest compliment by dedicating to him the 1960 Pilgrim.

ADMINISTRATION

To the members of the Class of 1960 go my sincere wishes for success and happiness.

The faculty and I feel privileged to have known you and to have worked with you. It is my hope that your stay in Plymouth High School will have helped you to form the basis for a full and happy life.

Plymouth offers a curriculum

It doesn't make a particle of difference.

Hieroglyphics made easy.

The science department of Plymouth High School offers courses which suit the needs of students who are looking for either general or specialized training.

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

Languages offered at Plymouth High include three years of English, Latin, and French. The English course combines grammar, composition, and literature. In the Latin classes the works of Caesar and Virgil, among others are translated. In French, emphasis is placed upon speaking the language.

Homemakers of the future

What a camera won't do for efficiency!

Commercial..Home Economics..Vocational

The commercial department of Plymouth High offers training in stenography, typing, bookkeeping, transcription, and clerical work. Under the guidance of Miss Beatrice Arthur, Mrs. Helen Bagnall, Miss Helen Johnson, and Mrs. Lydia Gardner, commercial students are prepared for a career in the business world.

Then...and now

While teaching is many centuries old, the last one hundred years have seen an evolution in teaching methods.

A century ago not many girls attended schools, and all students who did attend, walked. Teachers believed strictly in the three R's and had not forgotten the use of the rod. There were few school social activities, and a pupil's progress depended solely on his ambition.

Today our schools aim for a well-rounded and thorough education for everyone. We are allowed to govern our school in part, but we always have advisers to rely on. An active social life through extracurricular activities is an important part of our schooling.

Profiting from past experiences, the present educational system is constantly improving its preparation of the citizens of tomorrow.

(For the Indicator.)

AS THEY WERE, AND AS THEY ARE.

"Jones, you stupid blockhead, stan' up and say your rithmetic, and say it well, if you don't want a thrashing!" roared out the village schoolmaster of fifty years ago, in a manner most admirably calculated to draw out of any boy's head whatever knowledge there may have been there before; but now in 1880, Jones 3d is called up.—"Jones, come forward and recite your mathematics, and be careful about mistake. The schoolmaster of our time has learned that scholars are not brutes, and that he is not to drop the gentleman to become the teacher. This ancient method of frightening boys into mistakes, and rounding them out of them upon the oft quoted principle of "spare the rod and spoil the child," may have ruled the rough natures of an earlier day, but has given way before this advancing age. When the smallest schoolboy talks with the unmistakable air of a "free American citizen" of his rights, and asserts with the boldest self confidence that they are not to be invaded with impunity, when the subtle and all powerful influence of the ferule and the birch is but little felt, and when "muscle" is not the all important qualification for the instructor of youth.

The village schoolmaster—the constant theme of poets and novelists, (though in their charming description, bearing about as much resemblance to the well known original as the poetic "Love in a cottage" to the reality.) has passed away—and with him the savage, tyrannic, ex-

Scholars --" Socrates

A Hundred years ago the principal offerings of the high school were readin', 'ritin', and 'rithmatic. Plymouth High today offers a college preparatory course for students planning for advanced education, and the commercial course for those planning to enroll in business school or to work in an office. For those who plan to go to work directly after graduation, various courses are offered to assist them in their work.

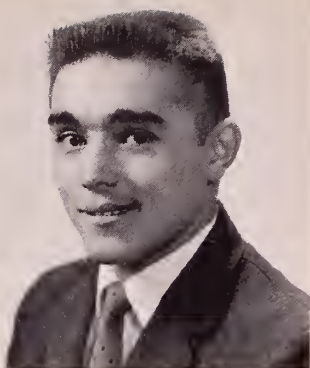

This variety of courses is made possible by the dedicated faculty. They encourage the students to develop ambition, skill, and confidence and guide them to independence.

In our own town, the High School was the first great step towards this improvement.— There was tried for the first time in Plymouth, the experiment of treating boys and girls as if they had some idea of decency and order, and giving them a large, healthy, and handsome schoolroom. Teachers whose abilities, high characters and fitness for their places we all acknowledged we had had before and had then, but not until then, had we been so well and properly accommodated. Eleven years have rolled away, and spite of the croakings of many who begrudged the money laid out, and the fears of those who doubted the wisdom of putting boys and girls together, and of transferring from the old buildings to the new, the school has been a decided success, and many of us who were present at its opening, and have grown with its growth, gather to-day and join in the prayer, that it may ever continue to flourish, as it has done, and always be equal to the task of preparing men and women for contending honorably and successfully in the great battle of life.

CLASS POEM

SUNSET AND DAWN

The sun is setting in the sky
As day is drawing to a close;
This scene brings tears of sadness nigh;
The sun, it seems just now arose.

We, too, now watch a bright sun set Upon a blissful day's endeavor;
A day that's lived and pulsed—and yet
Brief hours that cannot last forever.

The future lies before us all,
As now we seek our goals in life;
We search for guidance, great or small,
That we may overcome all strife.

We pray to God with faith and love,
That all the quests along life's way
Will be, with aid from up above,
The conquests of a dawning day.

JACQUELINE B. KELLER

Class Song

Help Us Today

Help us, O Lord,
The way to see clear,
To solve our problems
With each coming year.

The path will be crazy,
Our minds go astray;
Help us to conquer
Each dawning day.

Help us this day
As we take our first step;
Help us through prayer
As our problems are met.

We know we must strive
Our goals to attain;
Our quests are beginning;
Our conquests remain.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

OFFICERS

Front: Peter Gomes, President; Helen Cavicchi, Secretary; Weston Whiting, Treasurer. Back: Miss Nellie Locklin, Advisor; Charles Maccaferri, Vice President.

The junior year is a most rewarding time in high school. This is the year in which the students begin to assume some of the more important roles of leadership in the school. In the beginning of the year the S.A.S. elections are held for the juniors as well as the seniors. Toward the end of the second marking term, elections into the National Honor Society are held for juniors.

Baby, its cold outside!

The colorful Junior Prom is the most outstanding event of the year because of the efforts of the student body.

As the year draws to a close, the students review their achievements as juniors and look forward to even more in the year to come.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

OFFICERS

Front: Francis Rose, Vice President; Miss Jeanette Jacques, Advisor; Nancy Segal, Secretary.
Back: Richard Clark, Treasurer; Alton Mattioli, President.

Each member of the sophomore class enjoys equal opportunity with upperclassmen to participate in all school activities. This year the sophomores have been very active in sports and in the Student Activities Society. Their annual event, the Sophomore Hop, was planned by the four class officers under the guidance of their advisor, Miss Jeanette Jacques. Through their participation in school activities, the underclassmen hope to develop their abilities, to apply their knowledge, and to better themselves and their school.

JUNIOR PROM

Palm trees and tropical flowers were the setting for our Junior Prom, "Blue Hawaii." The girls in formal gowns and the boys in white dinner jackets danced to the pleasant music of Jay Mando's orchestra.

One of the highlights of the Prom was the traditional Grand March, which was stunning.

The evening was a great success, both socially and financially.

THE PRESS SAYS...

"Full pages of amateur feature photographs that vary in size and tonal qualities should be avoided."

"Do heads vary much in size?"

"Dramatize small groups showing activities of the organization."

"To get larger head sizes, fill the photographer's frame with faces."

"Are head sizes large enough for reproduction?"

"Avoid the use of miscellaneous snapshots of 'camera muggers'."

 eager student who would penetrate beyond the line of his every day's task. In the village, to gain a reputation for learning among the student worlding of commonness for a sure proof of study and reflection. We have lost, too, those quaint old school rooms, cold, ugly, without the least suspicion of paint, always standing where they might reap the full benefit of the coldest wintry blast and the hottest summer sun, with windows that would not open when shut, nor shut when open with stoves that could smoke the coldest day, and hard pine benches, and desks with covers that came down with a bang, all sculptured and cut as they were with the mottoes and faces of former generations of scholars,—ships sailing in the air and houses standing upon nothing,—all these have gone, and we have in their places nice

Bates and Stone, that they should come to Davis
 Hall, to keep the festival of the Plymouth High School.

For he had taken counsel, and his classmates, and all the past members in Plymouth, to keep the festival in the eighth month.

For they could not keep it before that time,
 for they were not informed sufficiently, neither had the scholars gathered themselves together at Plymouth.

And the thing pleased Benjamin and all his schoolmates.

So they established a decree to make proclamation throughout all Plymouth, from Kingston line even to Ponds, that they should come to keep the festival of the Plymouth High School at Plymouth, for it had never been done in such sort.

So the posts went with circulars from the Committee of Arrangements, throughout all Plymouth, according to the commandment, saying, "Ye old High School scholars, turn again to your teachers, and they will return to you."

All Plymouth High students are members of the Student Activities Society. The S.A.S. has three major objectives: to promote school and civic activities, to promote practices in good school citizenship, and to provide a forum for student expression.

The annual civic project this year supports the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. The school project will be the presentation of a $200 scholarship to a senior.

GRADUATION ORGANIZERS

Each year during January, the members of the Honor Group are announced. This group is composed of those seniors who have maintained a scholastic average of 85 or better during their years in high school. The members of the group meet every week from February to April to plan and write the graduation exercises under the supervision of Mrs. Miriam Raymond.

BIOLOGY AND JOURNALISM

The Biology Science Seminar is an honor group in which each member participates on his own initiative. The chairman of the week directs the meeting, plans activities, and distributes assignments to the other members. The group reviews current scientific literature, discusses biographies of famous scientists, makes field trips, hears special reports, and enjoys presentations of scientific brain teasers.

Because the students of Plymouth High have displayed a keen interest in some form of journalism, the Press Club was organized this year under the direction of Miss Marilyn Griffith, Mr. Lawrence Bongiovanni, and Mr. Mario Romano. It publicizes school events and acquaints the public with our activities. News is sent to the Old Colony Memorial and the Brockton Enterprise, and is also broadcast over the Plymouth radio station, WPLM.

The Travel Club, under the guidance of Miss Iris Albertini, meets once a month. The meetings are planned to give the members a picture of life in other countries such as Italy, France, and Japan, by lecture and movies.

This year Plymouth High School is again fortunate in having an efficient staff of junior librarians, for the growing book stacks require a well-run organization to keep an accurate record of all transactions.

The Varsity Club consists of those boys who have received a letter in any sport. The members maintain exhibits in the trophy cabinet, and help at games by manning the refreshment stands and taking tickets.

THE SEASON'S RECORD

Bridgewater: Unlike last year's senior team, an inexperienced Blue Eagle varsity played host to Bridgewater High. In this opening game, Plymouth High showed a faltering defensive unit, but Dick Silva and Mike Souza led Plymouth fans to expect excellent offensive play in coming games.

Rockland: Plymouth High took revenge on Rockland High for the Bridgewater defeat. The Blue Eagles chalked up sixteen first downs and two hundred and fifty-nine yards rushing. Roger Travassos and Mike Figlioli led the Plymouth defense, holding Rockland to a minimum of yardage.

Middleboro: Plymouth played host to Middleboro for the third game. The breakaway running of Middleboro's Rod Berry and Mike Finneran cracked the Blue Eagle defense. Plymouth's thrilling score came when Dick Silva threw a thirty-five yard pass to a finger-tip catch by Bob Rego.

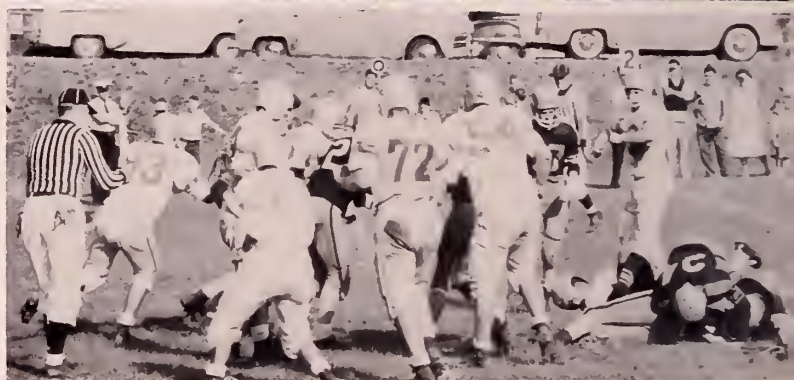

Mr. Jack Sarson, Coach; Mr. Joe DeSisto, Asst. Coach; Co-Captains: Barry Maffini, Richard Silva, Michael Souza; Mr. Henry Crier, Asst. Coach; Mr. Mario Romano, Athletic Director.

Whitman: Bobby Guidaboni replaced sidelined Dick Silva in the fourth game. Inexperience and Whitman dominated Plymouth. An intercepted pass and sixty-five yard runback by Bobby Rego, produced the only score for the Blue Eagles. Unfortunately the play was called back by penalty.

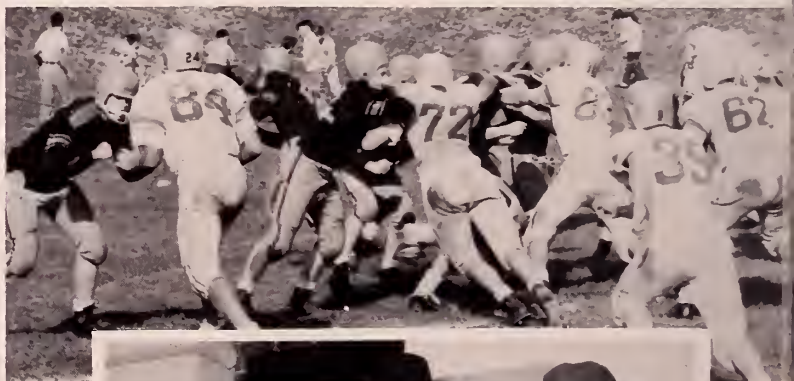

Abington: Bob Guidaboni called the signals on the muddy Abington field. He threw a pass to Mike Figlioli for Plymouth's lone score. Mike Souza and Plymouth were robbed of a touchdown when the referee called out of bounds on what was discovered to be the wrong line.

Falmouth: Plymouth, with five men sidelined, met a strong Falmouth club for the sixth game. The Blue Eagles fought desperately holding their opponents in the first half to a minimum of points. In the second half, however, the Blue Eagles faltered, and Falmouth broke loose.

Randolph: In the seventh game, Plymouth played host to powerful Randolph. Bob DiSimone and all-scholastic Phil Carlino proved too strong for Plymouth. Plymouth lost twice that day, the game and Dick Silva when he reinjured his knee and never saw action again.

Scituate: A spirited Scituate team played host to the Blue Eagles for the eighth game. Led by Bob Guidaboni, Plymouth got off to a very good start. Suddenly upended by a pass interception, Plymouth was never the same. Scituate dominated the rest of the game.

Silver Lake: A large crowd was on hand for the Thanksgiving Day classic between Silver Lake High and Plymouth High. In a free-scoring match, the Blue Eagles downed the Lakers in traditional fashion with Guidaboni, Keller, Souza, Maffini, and Rego flashing for Plymouth.

The Blue Eagles wound up their 1960 season tied with Wareham for second place in the Old Colony League. Fans will be looking forward to stellar performances from this year's sophomore starters Jimmy Gardner and David Ferazzi. Francis Rose, another sophomore, alternated with Bob Rego, also a starter. In the final league standings for the year, the Blue Eagles were tied for second place with Wareham with a 10-4 record. Plymouth's losses were at the hands of Silver Lake twice, Abington and Rockland once. Later, Silver Lake went on to win the South Shore Tourney and the Tech Tourney to become Class C State Champions.

In the post-season All-Star Game of the Old Colony League, Bobby Guidaboni was named to the starting team and Jimmy Gardner to the second team. Both Bobby and Jimmy played the back court for Plymouth during the regular playing season.

Want a lift?

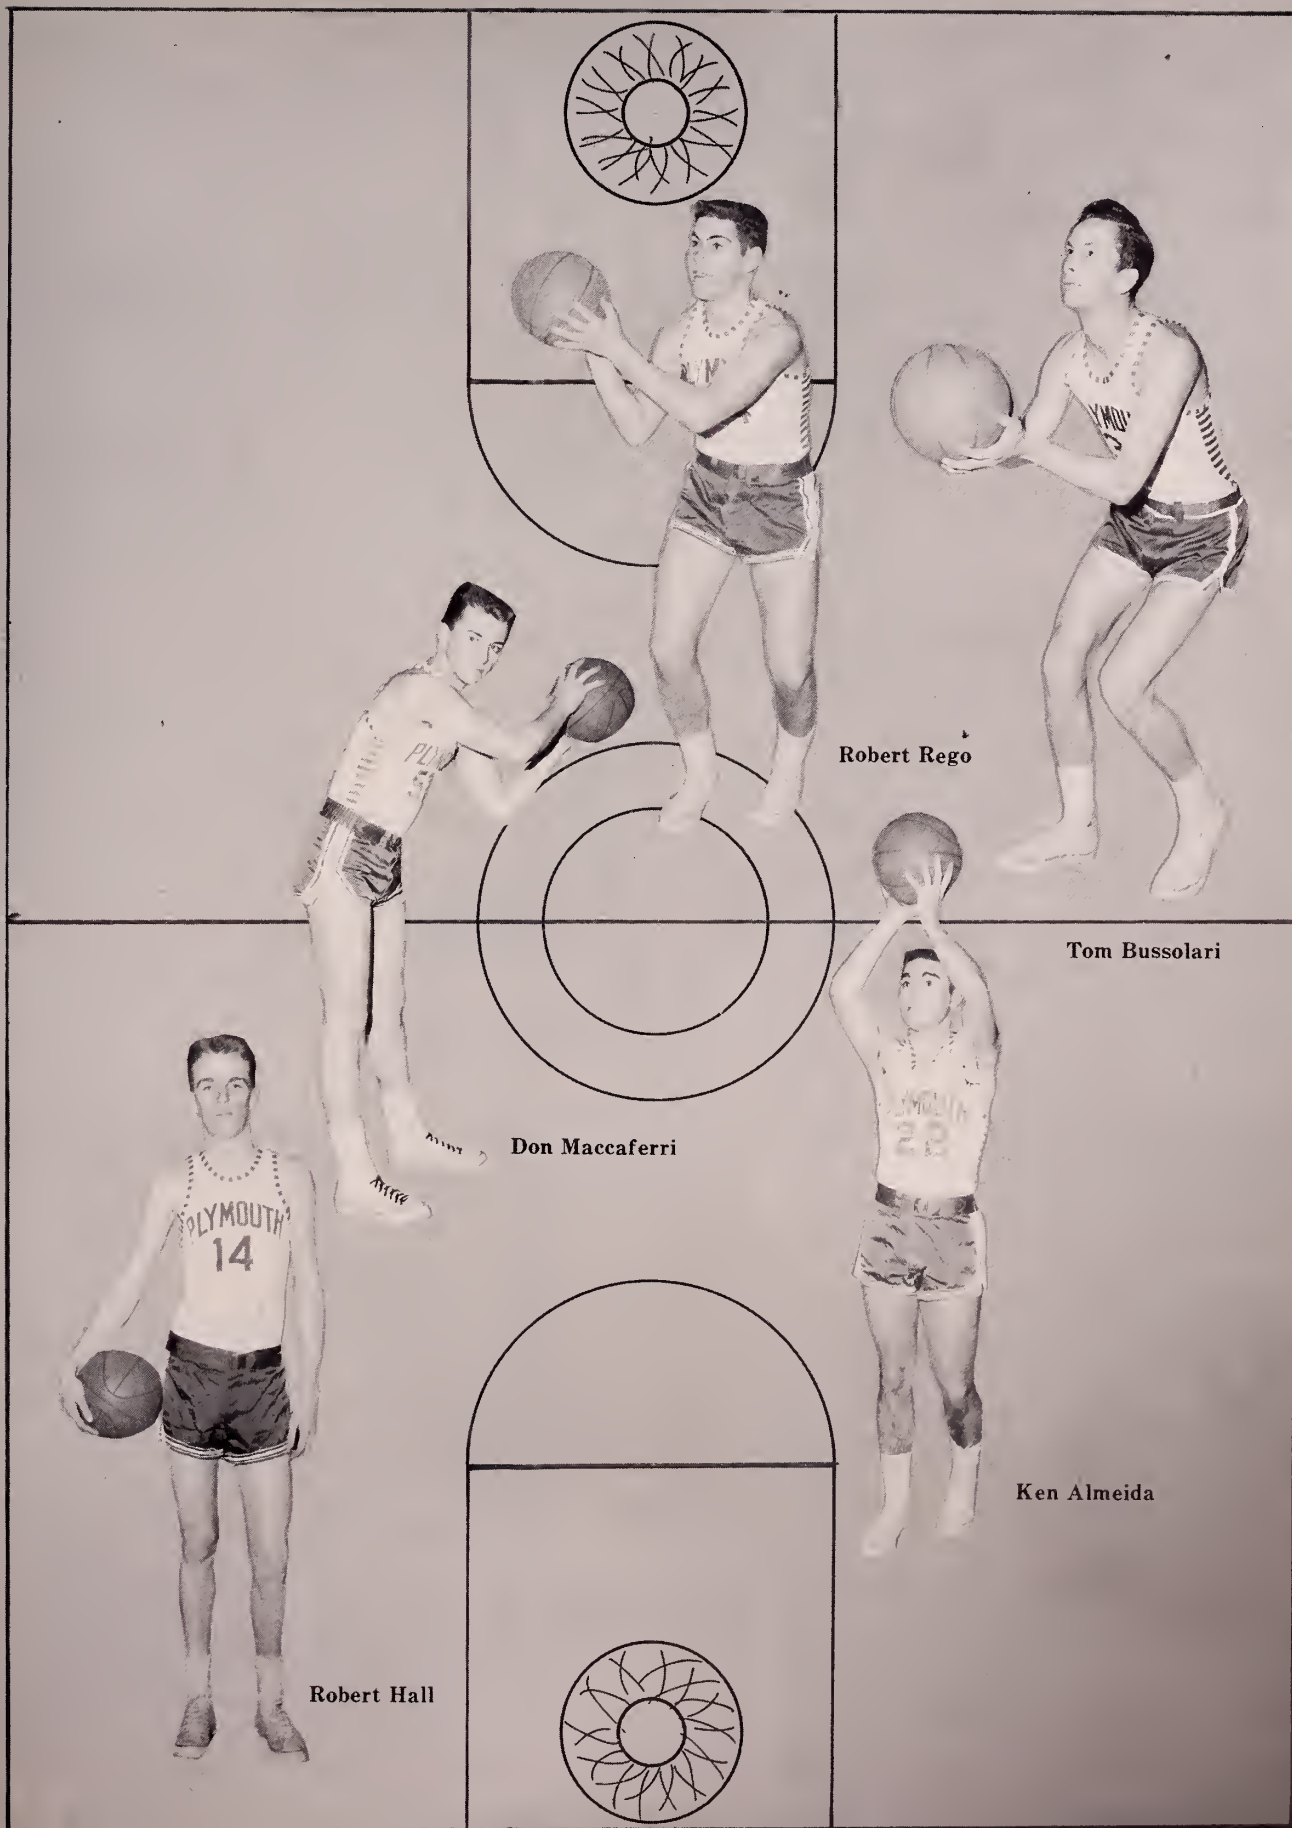

Well, Whitey! Don't just do something, stand there!

Seniors Bob Rego and Whitey Hall were regular starters for the Blue Eagles. Rego played at one of the forward positions and Hall played center. Tom Bussolari, another senior, saw plenty of action, alternating with Hall at center.

The most spectacular game played by Plymouth was its second league game with Middleboro. The game went into two overtimes before the Eagles pulled out a victory. The score at the final buzzer was Plymouth 77, Middleboro 74.

During the first overtime, with seven seconds remaining and Plymouth leading by two points, Jerry Marshall, one of Middleboro's All-Star players, sank a two-pointer to tie the score up again. In the second overtime, Plymouth dominated the backboards and sank shots with deadly accuracy to walk off the floor smiling.

1959 BASEBALL

"Let's play ball" is shouted by Mr. Antone Spath to his baseball candidates in the gym around the third week of March. The first week of practice is devoted to the pitcher and catcher candidates. These battery practices consist of a short exercise drill followed by pitching control.

All other candidates deserving a position on the team workout the following week. As soon as baseball weather arrives, the scene of the workouts is switched to John Siever Field. Here the Varsity is chosen and those remaining play a full season with Mr. DeSisto on the Junior Varsity.

TO MRS. CRONIN

The girls' sports pages are dedicated to Mrs. Marjorie Cronin, who directed girls' physical education for eight years.

Mrs. Cronin coached the girls in field hockey, basketball, tennis, and softball. She spent many hours patiently developing in her athletes the skills which are so essential for successful teams. She also was responsible for the well-trained cheerleaders who supported our teams at football and basketball games.

She will always be remembered for her help and guidance as a friend and teacher.

TENNIS

Plymouth High School's girls' tennis team has always been excellent, but in the past season the school has been especially proud. The team ended one of its best seasons with a 6 win, 3 loss record.

The girls put in long hours of arduous practice sessions and were rewarded by pleasant associations with other teams and the satisfaction of successful team competition.

The best Spring and Summer Medicine in the World is

DR. LANGLEY'S

Root and Herb Bitters,

Compound of Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Yellow
Dock, Prickly Ash, Thoroughwort, Rhubarb, Mandrake, Dandelion, &c., all of which are so compounded as to act in concert, and assist Nature in eradicating disease.

The Bitters continue to be the most standard, popular and reliable medicine ever discovered for the cure of Liver Complaints, and all their attendants; Jaundice in its worst forms; Humors, whether of blood or skin; all Bilious Diseases and Poul Stomach; Dyspepsia; Costiveness; Female Weakness, and every disease arising from Indigestion, or sedentary habits of life; Headache; Dizziness; Piles; Heartburn; Pains in the Side, Bowels or Back; Flatulency; Loss of Appetite, and every kindred complaint arising from Impurities of the Blood, Diseased Liver, or Disordered Stomach, to which every person is more or less subjected in this climate.

The effect of this medicine is most wonderful—it acts directly upon the bowels and blood, by removing all obstructions from the internal organs, stimulating them into healthy action, reinvigorating
the fountain of life, purifying the blood, cleansing it from all humors, and causing it to course anew through every part of the body; restoring the invalid to health and usefulness.

Only 25 and 38 cents per bottle. Sold by Dealers in Medicine every where.

Orders addressed to J. O. LANGLEY or GEO.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In order to publish a yearbook, an editor depends upon many people for their valuable service. I wish to extend my sincere thanks and appreciation to the following who have helped me so much this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickson and "Ted" who have willingly and patiently fulfilled our many wishes and needs in connection with the most enjoyable part of the Pilgrim . . . the pictures.

Mr. Robert Vantine of the Delmar Printing Company for his advice and assistance in all the many phases of yearbook work.

Mr. Raymond Miskelly for his excellent football candid.

Mr. Randall Abbott for his photographs of old documents.

Our advertisers for supporting the 1960 Pilgrim.

Mrs. Whiting and the office girls for their willing assistance.

The faculty for their patience when classes were interrupted for the taking of group pictures.

The editorial staff, who gave me immeasurable help from start to finish.

Eric Engstrom, for his cover design and other art work.

Linda Estes for doing a great job as business manager and also for helping with typing and proofreading.

Lyn Miskelly for her hours spent doing whatever needed to be done.

Pat Ghidoni, Anne Notini, Diane Carreiro, and Annette Sirrico for their hours of work when I needed special aid.

Dick Marinella who, though he had no official title, was always ready to supply humor for captions and other special features.
